

85

American Research Center In Egypt, Inc.

NEWSLETTER

NUMBER EIGHTY - FIVE

APRIL 1973

Twenty Nassau St.
Princeton, New Jersey 08540
United States of America

No. 2 Kasr el Dubbara
Garden City, Cairo
Arab Republic of Egypt

INCORPORATED

20 NASSAU STREET
PRINCETON, N. J. 08540
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
TELEPHONE: 609-921-3797

Inventaire B 10.492...0...

NO. 2 KASR EL DOUBARA
GARDEN CITY, CAIRO

EGYPT

NEWSLETTER NUMBER EIGHTY-FIVE

APRIL 1973

C O N T E N T S

	Page
Notes from Princeton	1
Rapport Préliminaire Sur La Compagne De Fouilles à Thèbes Ouest De La Mission Archéologique De L'Université De Milano (Italie) En Fevrier - Mars 1973	3
Cabinet Reshuffle	4
Notes on Activities in Egypt	5
Center's Guest Book	6
ARCE Fellow Alumni	9

The Newsletter is published quarterly; subscription rate, $5 per year. All statements by authors are those of the authors themselves and do not reflect ARCE policy or endorsement.

A R C E Membership Dues: (Include Newsletter and Journal of ARCE)

Individual	$ 12
Student	7
Research Supporting (Institutions Only)	2500
Institutional	500

President John A. Wilson
Vice-President. Morroe Berger
Treasurer R. Bayly Winder

Secretary and
U.S. Director .. Lily M. Brown
Cairo Director ... John Dorman

NOTES FROM PRINCETON

Meetings

The Board of Governors and Executive Committee of the American Research Center in Egypt will meet at Princeton University on Saturday, May 19, 1973. Members are invited to send proposed topics for discussion to the Princeton office.

Award

Dows Dunham, Curator Emeritus of the Department of Egyptian Art at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, was recipient on January 18 of the Boston Museum Award. The Award is given by the Trustees of the Museum in world-wide recognition of distinguished service by an individual or an institution in the art museum field.

Mr. Dunham is a charter member of the American Research Center in Egypt, which he served as Vice-President in 1950 and Trustee from 1950 to 1952. His recently published memoirs are noted elsewhere in this NL.

Visiting Scholars

Professor Mohamed al-Nowaihi of the American University in Cairo is Visiting Professor at Princeton University for the academic year 1972-73; his activities include teaching Advanced Arabic and conducting a graduate seminar, Readings in Modern Arabic Literature. On April 23 Professor al-Nowaihi spoke on "Reappraisal of Arabic Poetry: Unity of Form and Content" at UCLA.

Dr. Ahmed Fakhry, member of the High Committee of Antiquities, is visiting the U.S. under the sponsorship of the University Museum, University of Pennsylvania, for February through April. Dr. Fakhry has had an extensive travel schedule which has included lectures and seminars at the Oriental Institute, University of Chicago; University of California, Berkeley; Museum of Fine Arts, Boston; University of Toronto; Royal Ontario Museum; Temple University; Cheyney State College, Pennsylvania; University of Pennsylvania; Morgan State College; the University Museum; Archaeological Institute, Brooklyn; Hunter College.

Dr. Labib Habachi, Honorary Member of ARCE and Egyptology Consultant is also visiting under the sponsorship of the University Museum at Philadelphia for several months of research and writing. His itinerary includes lectures at the Oriental Institute, University of Chicago and the University of Toronto; research at the University Museum, the Metropolitan Museum and UCLA; and conferences at Johns Hopkins University.

Mr. Zareh Misketian, Business Manager of the Cairo Center, visited the U.S. in April. He took time out from his vacation to visit the Smithsonian Institution, the Office of Education and the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the Department of State, all in Washington.

Professor al-Nowaihi's and Dr. Fakhry's travel are made possible by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U.S. Department of State through the American Research Center in Egypt. Dr. Habachi's travel is funded by the Smithsonian Institution.

Summer Programs

The Middle East Center at the University of Utah will sponsor two intensive summer programs in 1973 under two grants from the U.S. Office of Education. The first is a ten-week program of Arabic Studies (nine weeks of academic work, one week on in-country traveling) at the Bourguiba Institute for Modern Languages in Tunis from June 22 to August 31, 1973. The second is the Western Consortium's annually rotating summer program of Middle East Language and Area Studies to be held at the University of Utah from June 25 to August 24, 1973.

The Academic program includes intensive Arabic, Hebrew, Kurdish, Persian, Ottoman Turkish, Modern Turkish and Area Courses taught in English, Arabic and Persian.

Undergraduate and graduate fellowships are available for both programs. Application forms and brochures containing detailed information may be requested from The Middle East Center, University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah 84112.

Conferences

The Giorgio Levi Della Vida Award in Islamic Studies: Fourth Biennial Conference, sponsored by the Near Eastern Center at UCLA will be held on May 11, 12 and 13. Emphasis will be on "Islam and Cultural Change in the Middle Ages". Speakers will include Muhsin Mahdi and Speros Vryonis, Jr., both members of the ARCE Board of Governors and Reverend G.C. Anawati, Honorary Member of ARCE. Recipient of the Giorgio Levi Della Vida Award in Islamic Studies for this year is Gustave E. von Grunebaum, late President of ARCE.

On May 4 and 5 at the State University of New York at Binghamton the Faculty Association for Middle Eastern Studies, SUNY and the Southwest Asian North African Program, SUNY, Binghamton will sponsor a conference on "Prospects for the Middle East - The Role of Science and Technology".

Publications of Interest

Dows Dunham, Recollections of an Egyptologist, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston (1972). Dr. Dunham's memoirs include a brief synopsis of the history of the American Research Center in Egypt.

Ewa Wipszycka, "Les ressources et les activités économiques des églises en Egypte du IV^e au VIII^e siècle", Papyrologica Bruxel-lensia, 10, Bruxelles: Fondation Egyptologique Reine Elisabeth (1972).

ARMANT, Deutsch-arabische Kulturzeitschrift, Helmut Birkenfeld, 5 Köln 41, Morsdorfer Strasse 13.

RAPPORT PRÉLIMINAIRE SUR LA COMPAGNE DE FOUILLES À THÈBES OUEST DE LA MISSION ARCHÉOLOGIQUE DE L'UNIVERSITÉ DE MILANO (ITALIE) EN FEVRIER - MARS 1973

La mission archéologique de l'Institut de Papyrologie de l'Université de Milano (Italie) a terminé sa première campagne de fouilles dans sa nouvelle concession in Thèbes Ouest, entre le Ramesseum et le temple de la reine Taouseret, comprenant la chapelle de Ouadjmes, le temple funéraire de Thoutmosis IV et le tombeau saïtique de Khonsouirdis, monuments relevés par Fl. Petrie en 1896.

Dans le plan de travail prévu, la première saison devait être de préparation aux travaux des saisons suivantes: contrôler en surface les données de Petrie, fixer le cadrillage architectural dans l'enceinte du grand temple funéraire de Thoutmosis IV. Pour le tombeau de Khonsouirdis, les relevés de surface montrent des assez notables différences de plan et de dimensions avec les données de Petrie, mais il est évident que seules les successives fouilles systématiquement conduites pourront les confirmer. Il faut noter dès maintenant que la plus grande partie du tombeau saïtique a été bâtie en remployant les briques crues estampillées avec la cartouche royale du mur d'enceinte du temple de Thoutmosis IV.

Pour le temple de Thoutmosis IV, on a exécuté un relevé général de surface, avec un relevé en profondeur dans le portico, côté sud, tandis que des sondages ont été effectués dans la partie sud de sanctuaire. On a trouvé des fragments d'inscriptions et des reliefs peints, un ostrakon hiéroglyphique assez effacé; on a repéré des marques de fondations. La trouvaille importante de la première saison de fouilles a été, sans doute, le repère d'un tombeau rupestre du Moyen Empire, creusé dans la falaise rocheuse qui forme la plateforme du temple même, en correspondance avec le II pilon nord. Précédé par une cour creusée dans le rocher, le tombeau comprend un couloir long environ 20m. disposé est-ouest; au fond, une chambre avec une niche, et un puit qui conduit à une chambre funéraire assez grande. A 5m. environ de l'entrée, s'ouvre un deuxième puit, avec deux chambres, l'une au sud l'autre au nord. Le tombeau, sépulture familiale utilisée dès la XI ou bien XII dynastie jusqu'au moins la XVII, contenant les squelettes de plus de vingt personnes, hommes, femmes, enfants, n'a pas d'inscriptions ni de décorations sur les parois qui étaient simplement couvertes par une couche de plâtre blanc, soit dans le couloir soit dans les chambres des puits; pillé sûrement - d'après des preuves certaines - déjà au temps de la construction du temple de Thoutmosis IV, mais laissé bloqué, visité aussi dans des temps plus récents (terminus post quem, les travaux de Petrie qui n'avait pas connu la présence de la tombe), le tombeau nouvellement découvert par la mission milanaise a donné bien de matériel interessant: une centaine de vases, coupes, plats, etc., de terre-cuite en parfait état, avec d'autres centaines de pièces qui pourront être recomposées avec le patient travail des prochaines saisons, et qui donnent des séries importantes pour l'étude de la potterie du Moyen Empire à Thèbes; quelques autres objets ont été retrouvés, échappés au pillage du tombeau; comme une masque en stuc peint (trouvée en pièces et reconstituée) perles de collier en faïence et en verre bleu, une boucle d'oreille en or, des fragments de boîtes à canopes et de sarcophages, qui nous donnent les seuls textes hiéroglyphes du tombeau, et qui nous consignent le nom propre, de Pn-mh-(yt).

Les travaux continueront dans la concession thebaine de l'Université de Milan pendant l'hiver prochain.

La mission comprenait, outre le directeur des fouilles Professor E. Bresciani, l'architecte Giorgio Osculati et le photographe Fausto Gabrielli; à la mission été ajouté M. Mahmoud Hamza, comme Inspecteur du Service des Antiquités de l'Égypte.

La mission milanaise est heureuse de pouvoir, dans cette occasion, exprimer à l'Organisation Général des Antiquités Égyptiennes l'expression de sa reconnaissance pour l'aide cordial et constant qui, encore une fois, vient d'y recevoir.

CABINET RESHUFFLE

On March 27 President Anwar Sadat reshuffled his cabinet. The new 36-member cabinet is composed of four Deputy Premiers and 32 members, of whom 16 are newcomers. President Sadat assumes the functions of Prime Minister.

The four Deputy Premiers are: Dr. Mohamed Abdul Kader Hatem, Deputy Premier for Culture and Information; Mamduh Mohamed Salem, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of the Interior; Dr. Abdul Aziz Higazy, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Finance, Economy and Foreign Trade; and Dr. Abdul Aziz Abdul Kader Kamel, Deputy Prime Minister for Religious Affairs and Minister of Waqfs.

The former Ministry of Culture and Information has been split into two: the Minister of Culture is the noted author Yussef El Sebaei and the Minister of Information is Dr. Mohamed Murad Ghaleb. Dr. Mohamed Hassan El Zayyat remains as Minister of Foreign Affairs, while Mr. Ismail Fahmy, formerly Under Secretary in the Foreign Office, becomes Minister of Tourism.

NOTES ON ACTIVITIES IN EGYPT

General

According to figures recently released in the press, 540,880 tourists visited Egypt in 1972, an increase of 26 percent over the 1971 figure. A partial breakdown by countries of origin was as follows: England: 15,726; France: 23,277; Libya: 118,271; Poland: 11,570; Saudi Arabia: 27,594; Sudan: 32,618; U.S.S.R.: 22,471; United States: 36,003; West Germany: 16,253; Yugoslavia: 3,431; Africa: 8,822; Asia: 11,141; Latin America: 3,804.

A conference under the auspices of UNESCO was held in Aswan on March 21-22 regarding the relocation of the temples of Philae. The U.S. Delegate announced to his colleagues that the Smithsonian Institution had asked Congress for an appropriation of four million dollars in PL-480 funds as the U.S. contribution to the project.

A R C E

The Department of Antiquities was officially notified that Dr. Kent Weeks, currently on the faculty of the American University in Cairo, will assume the directorship of Chicago House in Luxor, succeeding Dr. Edward Wente, who will return to his teaching obligations at the University of Chicago.

Prof. Donald B. Redford, Director of the Akhenaten Temple Project, was in Egypt for three weeks during February, spending much of his time working in Luxor with members of his staff. Dr. Edward L. B. Terrace has joined the project as Consultant, in addition to his work on The Decorative Arts of Ancient Egypt.

Prof. Bernard V. Bothmer of the Brooklyn Museum delivered a well-attended, illustrated lecture under the auspices of the ARCE at the American University on January 25 on "Akhenaten and Nefertiti - New Aspects of Amarna Art".

Members of the ARCE Board of Governors in Egypt during the first quarter of 1973 included: ARCE President Prof. John A. Wilson, Dr. Nicholas B. Millet, Prof. Jay C. Hurewitz, Prof. Muhsin Mahdi, Prof. Donald P. Hansen, Dr. Froelich Rainey and Prof. Ronald J. Williams. Also among our visitors was Dean R. Bayly Winder, ARCE Treasurer and Chairman of the ARCE Grants Committee.

Other

Dr. Geoffrey Martin completed a three-month season of excavating at Saqqara under the auspices of the Egypt Exploration Society.

Prof. Bernard V. Bothmer and a small team from the Brooklyn Museum visited Luxor to advise and assist the Department of Antiquities on the installation of the newly completed Luxor Museum, to be opened in a few months.

Dr. Fred Wendorf, leading an expedition of eight scholars from Southern Methodist University, spent one month examining prehistoric sites in the Western Desert.

Dr. James Harris from the University of Michigan and his collaborators spent three weeks in Kom Ombo continuing the Michigan-Alexandria Universities project, funded by the National Institutes of Health, examining and measuring teeth of Nubian schoolchildren.

Dr. Barry J. Kemp, leading the Yale-Pennsylvania expedition this year, began a second season at Malkata in mid-January.

The University of Milan Expedition, under the directorship of Professor E. Bresciani, completed its first season during February and March in Western Thebes.

Dr. Albert Hourani of St. Antony's College in Oxford delivered a series of three public lectures as Distinguished Visiting Professor at the American University in Cairo.

CENTER'S GUEST BOOK

We recently checked back, as a matter of curiosity, to compare the numbers of visitors who registered in the Center's Guest Book during the month of January each year since the Guest Book was first inaugurated in mid-1964. For January 1965 the Guest Book contained 3 signatures, and the numbers of signatures for each successive January were: 1 in 1966, 22 in 1967, 15 in 1968, 31 in 1969, 21 in 1970, 22 in 1971, 36 in 1972 and 45 in 1973. Our only conclusion is that each year, as the existence of the Center becomes more widely known, we are called on to provide services and coffee to a greater number of visitors. We regard this not only as a legitimate function of the Center but as one of the more stimulating and rewarding aspects of our program.

During December 1972 ARCE President John A. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson arrived to spend two months in Cairo and Luxor. Professor Malcolm Kerr of UCLA, ARCE Fellow in 1964-65, delivered a lecture as Distinguished Visiting Professor at the American University in Cairo. Professor Salih J. Altoma of Indiana University, ARCE Fellow in 1971-72, spent a few days in Cairo as a consultant on a project sponsored by the Ford Foundation. Professor and Mrs. Joseph Wood, ARCE members from Oberlin College, were in Egypt for one month with their daughter Lorna. Professor James Robinson and his wife, of Claremont, California, accompanied by an impressive international team of Coptologists, spent three weeks in December working on the Nag Hammadi codices in the Coptic Museum. Mr. Donald G. Smith, architect from New York City, was referred to us by friends who were aware of his interest in ancient architecture. Professor Leonard Binder of the University of Chicago came in to discuss with us a project in which he is interested. Dr. William Y. Adams of the University of Kentucky, en route home, reported on a profitable season at Qasr Ibrim. Professor E. S. Kennedy, Chairman of the Department of Mathematics at the American University of Beirut, accompanied by his wife, visited Cairo to consult with Dr. David King on a project relative to the cataloguing of early Islamic scientific manuscripts in Egypt. Dr. Gerald Hawkins of the Smithsonian Observatory in Cambridge, Massachusetts, brought his family to Cairo as he continued work on the possible celestial orientation of some of the major ancient monuments in Egypt. Judge Jasper Y. Brinton, having recently celebrated his 94th birthday and among the more senior ARCE members, called at the Center. Other visitors to the Center during December included Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Rast of Chicago, Dr. Aleya Roushdy of Wayne State University, Dr. Martin Krause of the University of Münster, Mr. M. Shaheen of Ottawa, and Professor and Mrs. James M. Wanless of New York City.

A number of groups visited the Center during the month of January: Dr. Barry J. Kemp of Cambridge University, with Miss Linda Popelesh and Mr. John K. Taylor, members of the Pennsylvania-Yale expedition to Malkata; four students from the American School of Classical Studies in Athens, viz. Miss Nancy Winter, Mr. Kevin K. Carroll, Miss Diana M. Burtron and Miss Caroline M. Hauser; Dr. Josephine M. Harris and Mrs. Charlotte Steacy Pike with three students from Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pennsylvania; Prof. Bernard V. Bothmer, Mr. Patrick Cardon and Mr. Charles B. Froom, comprising a team from the Brooklyn Museum to advise and assist the Egyptian Department of Antiquities on the installation of the Luxor Museum, soon to be opened; and Dr. and Mrs. Gyllengsvaard of Stockholm and Dr. Ralph W. Pinder-Wilson of the London Museum, consultants on the Fustat expedition. Three members of the Board of Governors of the ARCE visited the Center during January, including Prof. Muhsin Mahdi of Harvard University, Prof. Donald P. Hansen of the Institute of Fine Arts, New York University accompanied by Prof. Edward L. Ochsenchlager of the City University of New York; and Dr. Froelich Rainey, accompanied by his wife, of the University Museum in Philadelphia. Mr. David W. Nasgowitz,

Librarian at the Oriental Institute, spent several days in Cairo before proceeding to Chicago House in Luxor. Visitors from France included Professor Jean Leclant of the École Pratique des Hautes Études, the Sorbonne; Miss Catherine Berger of CRES, the Sorbonne; and J.K. McDonald of the Ecole de Louvre. Other visitors during January included: Professor Paul G. Forand of the University of Kentucky; Dr. Harry Tomaras of the Chicago Public Schools and Northwestern University; Miss Ellen N. Davis of Queens College, New York; Miss Marianne Eaton and Miss Estelle Whelan, both of the Institute of Fine Arts, New York University; Miss Janine Bourriau, with the Egypt Exploration Society expedition at Saqqara; Miss Janice Terry of Eastern Michigan University; Rev. Denis Como of Alexandria; Mr. Richard van Glatz of USIA in Beirut; and Dr. Gerhart Haeny, Director of the Swiss Institute in Cairo.

Early among our visitors in February was Mr. Lanny Bell, Director of the Dra Abu el Naga expedition but this time lecturer for a tour group from the University Museum, Philadelphia. Dr. Fred Wendorf of Southern Methodist University called at the Center with Mr. Wilson O. Henderson and Mr. Russell Morrison, members of his expedition to map prehistoric sites in Egypt, this season a desert area 600 miles west of Abu Simbel. Dr. Nicholas B. Millet, former Director of the Gebel Adda expedition and now at the Royal Ontario Museum, spent two weeks in Cairo. Mr. P. de Boysson, French member of the Centre Franco-Egyptien at Karnak, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Leek of London called at the Center. Dr. James Harris of the University of Michigan, accompanied by members of his team including Dr. Paul Ponitz, Dr. Arthur J. Storey, Dr. William J. Russell and Dr. Major M. Ash, stopped at the Center en route to Kom Ombo to pursue their project of measuring the teeth of Nubian schoolchildren. Mr. Paul B. Johnson came to say goodbye before leaving for the States after six years as Quaker Service Representative for the Middle East. Mr. James Cornell of the Smithsonian Observatory in Cambridge, Massachusetts, accompanied by his family, was in Egypt to gather material for a publication to be entitled "Smithsonian Around the World". Dr. Bob L. Whitfield of the Stanford Research Institute discussed with us the feasibility of several projects in Egypt. Mr. Burton Berry, retired Foreign Service Officer, stopped by during his annual visit to Egypt. Other visitors to the Center during February included Miss Jessie Taggart and Miss Linda Valker, both of Utah; Mr. Tyrone M. Steward and Mr. O'Dell Anderson, Tarkio students spending a semester at the Schutz American School in Alexandria; Dr. Elmar Edel of Bonn University; Miss Mabel E. Young of New Canaan, Connecticut; Miss Nancy J. Skon of the University of Pennsylvania; Miss Madeleine Boyer of Montreal; Mr. Thomas Jedik of Athens; Miss Mary Shediak and Dr. Kamal El Tanil, both of Cairo.

ARCE FELLOW ALUMNI

Following is a list of former ARCE Fellows with publications and other activities resulting from research accomplished during the course of their Fellowships. In addition several manuscripts are in preparation and this list does not include unpublished papers which the alumni have presented at meetings. Future Newsletters will carry notes of their publication.

- Abboud, Peter F., Assoc. Prof., Dept. of Oriental and African Languages and Literatures, University of Texas at Austin.
- Abu-Jaber, Kamel, Dept. of Government, Smith College.
- Allen, Roger, Asst. Prof. of Arabic, Oriental Studies, University of Pennsylvania,
- "Mirrors by Najib Mahfuz", Muslim World (April 1972) part I; (January 1973) part II.
- Altoma, Salih J., Assoc. Prof., Dept. of Near Eastern Languages and Literatures, Indiana University.
- Alwan, Mohammed B., Asst. Prof., ARCE Fellow 1972-73.
- Ani, Moukhtar, Washington, D. C.
- Aroian, Lois A., ARCE Fellow 1972-73.
- Bacharach, Jere L., Asst. Prof., Dept. of History, University of Washington.
- Badran, Margot F., St. Antony's College, Oxford.
- Bedrosian, John, Arlington, Va.
- Bell, Joseph N., Dept. of Modern Languages, University of Ghana.
- Bothmer, Bernard V., Curator of Egyptian and Classical Art, Brooklyn Museum; Adjunct Prof. of Fine Arts, Institute of Fine Arts, New York University,
- "More Statues of Senenmut", The Brooklyn Museum Annual XI, 1960-1970 (1971), pp. 124-143, with 25 figs.
- "Apotheosis in Late Egyptian Sculpture", Kemi (Paris), 20 (1970), pp. 37-48, with 29 figs.
- Butterworth, Charles E., Asst. Prof., Political Science, Dept. of Government and Politics, University of Maryland.
- Callahan, John F., Prof., Georgetown University.
- Colescott, Robert H., Prof., Dept. of Fine Art, Stanislaus State College.
- Coury, Ralph M., Troy, N. Y.
- Crabbs, Jack A., Jr., Dept. of History and Social Science, York College of Pennsylvania.
- Crecelius, Daniel N., Assoc. Prof., California State University, L.A.
- DeSomogyi, Joseph, Prof., Harvard University, retired.
- Dixon, Walter H., Jr., Asst. Prof. of International Relations, Dept. of Economics-Political Science, American University in Cairo,
- "Narcotics Legislation and Islam in Egypt", The Bulletin on Narcotics of the United Nations (Department of Economic and Social Affairs), Vol. XXIV, No. 4 (October-December 1972).

- Dodd, Erica C., American University of Beirut.
- Dykstra, Darrell I., ARCE Fellow 1972-73.
- Dynes, Russell R., Prof., Dept. of Sociology and Anthropology, Ohio State University.
- Ehrenkreutz, Andrew S., Prof. of Medieval Near Eastern History, University of Michigan.
- Farah, Caesar E., Prof. of Arabic and Middle Eastern Studies, Dept. of Middle Eastern Languages, University of Minnesota, Two seminars: Literati and literature of the Arabic Revivalist Movement; Syro-Lebanese humanists and writers during the period 1875-1915.
- One conference panel on the impact of Ottoman censorship on journalists in the late 19th century--the Salim Sarkis 'Rare Doings of the Censor'.
- Frick, Fay A., Assoc. Prof. of Art History, Near East Specialist, Dept. of Art, California State University, San Diego, "Chinese Ceramics at Fustat and their Influence on Near Eastern Ceramics", Papers from the Western Conference of Asian Studies, San Diego (October 1971).
- Geerlings, Jacob., Prof. of History and Languages, University of Utah, "Studies and Documents", T.D. Moschanas ed., Vol. 26 in Revised Edition of MSS of the Greek Patriarchal Library of Alexandria, J. Geerlings ed. of series.
- "Lectonary 767 (Gregory)" Chapter 10 in Festschrift in Honor of Dr. Aziz S. Atiya, Brill (1972).
- Goedicke, Hans., Prof., Chairman Dept. of Near Eastern Studies, Johns Hopkins University.
- Goldschmidt, Arthur, Jr., Asst. Prof., Dept. of History, Pennsylvania State University, Recipient of Pennsylvania State's Class of 1933 Award for Outstanding Contributions to the Teaching of the Humanities (September 1972).
- Grace, Virginia, American School of Classical Studies, Athens, Greece.
- Gran, Judith, ARCE, Cairo.
- Hale, Sondra, Lecturer, Dept. of Anthropology, California State University, Northridge, "Nubians in the Urban Milieu: Khartoum, Sudan", Urbanization in the Sudan, El-Sayed el-Bushra ed., Proceedings of the 17th Annual Conference of the Philosophical Society of the Sudan, 2nd-4th August (1972), pp. 43-55.
- With Hussein Fahim and Bahiga Heikal, Source Material on Nubian Culture and Society: A Preliminary Compiled Bibliography, Social Research Center, American University in Cairo (1972).

- Harik, Iliya, Assoc. Prof., Dept. of Political Science, Indiana University, "Opinion Leaders and the Mass Media in Rural Egypt: A Reconsideration of the Two-Step Flow of Communications Hypothesis", The American Political Science Review, Vol. LXV (September 1971).
- "Mobilization Policy and Social Change in Rural Egypt", Richard Antoun and Iliya Harik, eds., Rural Politics and Social Change in the Middle East, Bloomington: Indiana University Press (1972).
- Horn, Michael, Center for Middle Eastern Studies, Harvard University.
- Hungerford, Bruce, New Rochelle, N. Y., 'The Heritage of Ancient Egypt' - a 17-part series of audio-visual talks on the art and history of ancient Egypt.
- Hunter, Robert, Cambridge, Mass.
- Jenkins, Marilyn, Associate Curator, Dept. of Islamic Art, Metropolitan Museum of Art.
- Keith, Jean, University of Connecticut.
- Kerr, Malcolm H., Prof. of Political Science, U.C.L.A., The Arab Cold War, Oxford University Press, 3rd edition (1971).
- "The United Arab Republic: The Domestic Political and Economic Background of Foreign Policy", Political Dynamics in the Middle East, P. Y. Hammond and S. Alexander, eds., N. Y.: Elsevier (1972).
- Kiang, Dawson, Assoc. Prof., Dept. of Art History, College of Arts and Architecture, Pennsylvania State University.
- Killeen, Carolyn G., Asst. Prof. of Arabic/Linguistics, Dept. of Near Eastern Languages and Civilizations, University of Chicago, Course in Cairene Spoken Arabic.
- Koury, George J., St. Paul, Minn.
- Kuhnke, Laverne, Asst. Prof. of History, U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, "Early Nineteenth Century Ophthalmological Clinics in Egypt", Clio Medica (Vienna), No. 3 (September 1972), pp. 209-214.
- LeGassick, Trevor, Assoc. Prof., Dept. of Near Eastern Languages and Literatures, University of Michigan.
- Liimatainen, Marjory, Belgrade, Yugoslavia.
- Little, Donald P., Assoc. Prof. and Asst. Director, Institute of Islamic Studies, McGill University, An Introduction to Mamluk Historiography, Wiesbaden (1970).
- "The Historical and Historiographical Significance of the Detention of Ibn Taymiyya", IJMES (1973).
- MacKay, Pierre A., Assoc. Prof., Dept. of Near Eastern Languages and Literature, University of Washington, "Certificates of Transmission on a Manuscript of the Maqamat of Hariri (MS. Cairo, Adab 105)", Transactions of the American Philosophical Society, Vol. 61, part 4 (1971), 82 pp.
- "Patronage and Power in 6th/12th Century Baghdad. The Life of the Vizier 'Adud al-Din Ibn al-Muzaffar", Studia Islamica, Vol. 34 (1971), pp. 27-56.

- MacKenzie, Neil D., Field Archaeologist, British Institute in East Africa.
- Marsot, Afaf L., Assoc. Prof., History, U.C.L.A.
- Matson, Frederick R., Pennsylvania State University.
- McDermott, Martin J., Université St. Joseph, Beirut, Lebanon.
- Moore, Clement H., ARCE Fellow 1972-73, American University in Cairo, "Authoritarian Politics in Unincorporated Society: The Case of Nasser's Egypt", Comparative Politics (January 1974).
- Peck, William H., Curator of Ancient Art, Detroit Institute of Arts, 'Lectures on New Kingdom Tomb Painting', Detroit 1971, Toledo 1971, Baltimore 1972.
- Peters, Francis E., Prof. and Head, Dept. of Near Eastern Languages and Literatures, Hagop Kevorkian Center for Near Eastern Studies, New York University, The Islamic Renaissance in the Near East, Simon and Schuster (Spring 1973), 800 pp.
- Petry, Carl, Center for Near Eastern & North African Studies, University of Michigan.
- Pierce, Richard H., Klassisk Institutt, Universitetet i Bergen.
- Pitts, Elye, Laguna Beach, Ca.
- Reid, Donald M., Asst. Prof., History Dept., Georgia State University, "Syrian Christians, The Rags-to-Riches Story, and Free Enterprise", IJMES I (1970), pp. 358-367.
- "The Syrian Christians and Early Socialism in the Arab World", IJMES IV (1973).
- Riefstahl, Elizabeth, Brooklyn Museum.
- Rollman, Wilfrid J., ARCE Fellow 1972-73.
- Scanlon, George T., St. Antony's College, Oxford.
- Smith, Charles D., Dept. of History, College of Arts and Letters, California State University, San Diego.
- Smith, Marian R., Dept. of Languages and Philosophy, Utah State University.
- Smith, Russell Y., CAS Fellow for Continuing Research, American University in Cairo.
- Staffa, Susan J., Asst. Prof. of Anthropology, American University in Cairo.
- Stefanelli, Joseph J., Lecturer in Painting, Columbia University, Painting exhibitions: Westbeth Galleries 1971 and 1972, New School for Social Research 1972, New Bertha Schaeffer Gallery 1973.
- Stetkevych, Jaroslav, Chicago, Ill.
- Stillman, Yedida K., Consultant, International Folk Art Foundation, New York, N.Y., "The Wardrobe of a Jewish Bride in Medieval Egypt", Folklore Research Center Studies IV (Zunzer Festschrift) (Summer 1973).

- Terrace, Edward L.B., Director, ARCE Decorative Arts of Ancient Egypt Project, Consultant, Akhenaten Temple Project, Egyptian Paintings of the Middle Kingdom, New York: George Braziller (1968).
- "The Entourage of an Egyptian Governor", Bulletin, Museum of Fine Arts, No. 343, Vol. LXVI (1968), pp. 5-27.
- With Henry G. Fischer, Treasures of Egyptian Art from the Cairo Museum, London: Thames and Hudson (1970), in two editions.
- Van Vleck, Michael R., Madison, Wis.
- Verdery, Richard N., Assoc. Prof., Institute of Islamic Studies, McGill University, "The Publications of the Bulaq Press under Muhammad 'Alī of Egypt", Journal of the American Oriental Society, XCI, 1 (1971), pp. 129-132.
- Wainess, David F., Montreal, Canada.
- Ware, Lewis, Princeton University.
- Weeks, Kent, Assoc. Prof., American University in Cairo.
- Wendell, Charles, Lecturer in Arabic, University of California, The Evolution of the Egyptian National Image: From its Origins to Ahmad Lutfi Al-Sayyid, University of California Press (1972).
- Weiss, Bernard, New York, N.Y.
- Ziadeh, Farhat J., Chairman, Dept. of Near Eastern Languages and Literature, University of Washington.

Perusal of recent numbers of the ARCE Newsletter reveals several articles arising from Fellows' ARCE-sponsored research, most written while they were in Egypt:

- Abu-Jaber, Kamel, "Development of the Labor Movement in Egypt", NL No. 73 (April 1970).
- Allen, Roger, "Mahfuz' Mirrors", NL No. 79 (October 1971).
- Bacharach, Jere L., "Numismatic Studies in the Arab World", NL No. 79 (October 1971).
- Bothmer, Bernard V., "Musings of an ARCE Fellow at Work", NL No. 74 (July 1970).
- Coury, Ralph M., "And Never the Twain Shall Meet?", NL No. 76 (January 1971).
- Crabbs, Jack A., Jr., "Modern Egyptian Historiography", NL No. 74 (July 1970).
- Crecelius, Daniel N., "Waqf Archives in the U.A.R.", NL No. 71 (October 1969).
- Dixon, Walter H., Jr., "An Islamic Approach to Narcotics Education", NL No. 81 (April 1972).
- Goldschmidt, Arthur, Jr., "The Perils and Pleasures of a Modern Egyptologist", NL No. 72 (January 1970).
- Hale, Sondra, "Nubian Studies in the Social Research Center, American University in Cairo", NL No. 79 (October 1971).
- McDermott, Martin J., "Visiting Some Shi'ite Holy Cities", NL No. 71 (October 1969).
- Wainess, David F., "Toward a Reassessment", NL No. 83 (October 1972).
- Ware, Lewis, "Jurju Zaydan: A New Arab World View", NL No. 82 (July 1972).

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
LIBRARY
540 EAST 57TH STREET
CHICAGO, ILL. 60637